A toast to your health

Unique wine event supports hospital growth

AMORYN ENGEL

There was a sea of colourful guests who descended on the tony Toronto Hunt Club for the 7th annual Unique Celebration of Food and Wine to benefit Toronto East General Hospital.

Fine wines were served on a picture-perfect night with Lake Ontario providing the gorgeous backdrop. The strolling supper was an Argentinian feast prepared by world-renowned chef Natalia Machado, winner of the Food Network's Chopped and Sweet Genius. Event chair and resident rocket, co-chairs Christina Giamos and Sarah O'Born welcomed hundreds of guests, as well as three generations from the Stavro family — her grandfather Steve was the family patriarch, a national treasure and a huge supporter of the hospital. As if the hazy night wasn't providing enough heat, things got positively hot with a sexy performance by Tango Soul. TEGH is an award-winning, community teaching hospital serving some of most diverse neighbourhoods in the GTA. The hospital is rapidly gaining acclaim in chest disease, robotic surgery and child and adolescent mental health.

The hospital is in the midst of an ambitious re-development project. The focal point is the Ken and Marilyn Thomson Patient Care Centre, to be built at the corner of Coxwell and Sammon, which will usher in a new era of leading-edge health care. This expansion will be one of the largest investments in infrastructure that east Toronto has experienced in decades and will transform care for families in east Toronto and beyond.

"Our wine event is a great way to thank and celebrate our extraordinary donors and supporters for their generosity and their vital role in enabling Toronto East General Hospital to set a new standard in patient care," said Mitze Mourinho, president, Toronto East General Hospital Foundation. "The night's success is attributed to our phenomenal committee: Christina Giamos, Sarah O'Born, LeeAnn Acton and Paul Fensom and the generosity of all of our sponsors, especially presenting sponsor DeClute Real Estate and our printing sponsor TPH."

One of the highlights of the night was Marcel Bregstein, one of only five Canadians honoured with the designation from France with the Order of Champagne, as he sabred a bottle of champagne ... that really got the party flowing and going!
